1. Come, all ye weary travellers, let us join and sing
The everlasting praises of Jesus Christ our King;
We've had a tedious journey and tiresome it is true,
But see how many dangers the Lord hath brought us through.
2. At first when Jesus found us He called us unto Him,
And pointed out the dangers of falling into sin;
The world, the flesh, and Satan, will prove to us a snare,
Except we do reject them by faith and humble prayer.
3. But by our disobedience, with sorrow we confess,
We long have had to wander in that dark wilderness,
Where we might soon have fainted in that enchanted ground,
But now and then a cluster of pleasant grapes we found.
